CIRCULATION OF 9188 BOOKS

Membership Roll—Transient
Subscribers—Officers.

The Honolulu Library and Reading Room Association met in the regular

lowing officers:

Vice-President—M. M. Scott.
Treasurer—Mary A. Burbank.
Secretary—H. A. Parmelee.
Trustees—S. B. Dole, Dr. C. M.

Miss Burbank, the librarian, then read the following report:

To the Trustees of the Honolulu Library and Reading Room Association.

Gentlemen:—The following is the report for the year from October 1, 1896
to September 30, 1897.

The number of regular subscribers of the Association is 180. During the year there have been 18 new names added to our list of subscribers. The losses have been, by death 2, by removal from town 2, by withdrawal from the Association 14. Total 18, leaving the number the same as at the beginning of the year.

There have been 95 transient subscribers, most of whom subscribe for three months only, but some of whom continue their subscriptions for two or more quarters, or as long as they remain in town, these and 151 pupils of the High School who have drawn books from the Library during the year, constitute the majority of the readers of the Library books, not the regular subscribers who maintain the Library, but seldom visit it.

The circulation which has for some years past, been between 4,000 and 5,300, was last year 6,937, and this year reaches 9,188.

the Hawaiian Legation in Washington,
besides United States Census Reports and Smithsonian Institute Reports from Washington.

The number of visitors to the Reading Room is increasing, being 13,767
during the year, which is an average of over 100 a month more than in any previous year.

Respectfully submitted,

M. A. BURBANK,
Librarian.

Then came the report of the Administration Committee, as follows:

To the President and Members of the Library and Reading Room Association.

The affairs of the Association for the last year, so far as they have come within the jurisdiction of this committee, furnish but little material for a report, and call for only brief comment. The Association is now so well organized in the different departments that the work goes on steadily and quietly with very little occasion for change. The same Librarian and Janitor that have occupied those respective positions for several years past have continued to discharge their duties with their customary fidelity and efficiency.

The only changes that have occurred in the personnel of the employees have been in the case of the young man employed to take charge of the premises evenings. Mr. Everard Turner left at the end of March, his departure being necessitated by the removal of his family to Hilo.

He was succeeded by Mr. Wm. Millen who resigned September 15th and who was in turn succeeded by Norman Brown, the present incumbent. All the above named persons have given,
so far as your committee is informed,
satisfaction in the performance of their duties.

A few matters in the way of repairs to the premises and fixtures have been found necessary. The most important of these was the rewiring of the building for the electric lights, this being something that was required by the agent of the underwriters and should not therefore be avoided. The cost of this work was $62.70 as will be seen from the report of the Treasurer. A spring has been put upon the door leading from the front hall to the reading room, a new water filter has been provided and the building has been numbered. The cost of these little matters will be found set forth in the report of the Treasurer.

Some changes have been made in the arrangement of the furniture and fixtures, and a large oil painting of Mr. Bishop is now hung in the space at the makal end of the reading room formerly occupied by book cases.

The statistics of the work of the reading room and circulating departments, and of additions made during the year will all be found in detail in the report of the Librarian, to which
and the Treasurer's report mentioned above, the members are referred for further information.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

C. T. RODGERS,
W. F. ALLEN,
Committee.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

Kapea and Associates Arraigned in Circuit Court

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Kapea, Kaio Upopa and George Rathburn came before Circuit Judge
Perry for trial this morning. E. P.
Dole for the Government asked yesterday that the case be placed on the docket and filed all the papers pertaining to the case. He read Judge Hardy's order for change of venue at authority for trial in Honolulu Court.
Mr. Rosa entered a plea objecting to the jurisdiction of the Court. He represents Upopa and George Rathburn.
Mr. Robertson offered no objection.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Kapea, Upopa, Kaio and George
Rathburn were arraigned before Judge
Perry in the First Circuit Court, Saturday morning. Kapea is charged with murder in the first degree; the others are accused of being accessories
before the fact and after the fact.

None of the men on trial exhibited
the slightest interest in the proceedings. They calmly listened to the reading of the indictment, and to the arguments of Mr. Robertson on the demurrer, which followed. The demurrer was based on the two counts. Mr.
Robertson held that in the second count they were not accused of any specific murder as it did not state whether or not it was a man who was murdered, or if a man, what man. He cited Supreme Court rulings on the question of two counts. Judge Perry overruled the demurrer and an exception was noted. The charges were then read to the four men and they all plead not guilty. Mr. Robertson moved for an order of the Court to consult with his clients. He said he had not been allowed to do so. He said he would present the written motion after the drawing of the jury, to save time. Mr.
Kinney announced that he would argue on the motion.

The examination of the twelve men who were called in the preliminary drawing for jurors will probably take considerable time. The examination on Saturday was careful and exacting.
There is great responsibility resting upon a jury in a murder trial. The character of the questions asked by both the prosecution and the defense was an indication of their desire to select twelve men who were unbiased in their opinions, and who should exhibit an intelligence sufficient to warrant the placing of such an important case in their hands.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

In the account of the Kapea trial in yesterday's Advertiser Mr. Robertson was credited with stating that he had not been allowed to see his clients.
What Mr. Robertson did say was that he had not been permitted to see the witnesses who had turned state's evidence. He has constantly communicated with his clients.

The examination of jurors continued all day yesterday. In all there have been examined 28 men. All but one of those rejected have been for cause
so that 47 peremptory challenges remain to be exercised by the defense.

John Richardson to Go.

R. W. Wilcox of this place and Tom Clarke of Wailuku were the chief orators at a royalist meeting held in Lahaina last Saturday night. The subject discussed was the annexation question and advisability of strengthening the proposed delegation of the anti-at Washington. It was voted that John Richardson, a former Governor and Representative should go from Maui. He was at the meeting. About $200 was raised to defray the expenses of the delegate.

At Kawaiahaeo.

Mr. Clive Davies spoke in Kawaiahaeo church yesterday morning, appealing to those whom it might concern to forsake the ways of wickedness and to follow the straight and narrow path.

ROBERT HAS A SAY

Wilcox Tells of Recent Meetings
Held on Maui.

ONE HAOLE HAS BEEN CHOSEN

A Question and Answer—No More
All Rule—Bad Faith Mooted—Interview With A. Marques.

The mass meetings of royalists at Waihee and Wailuku selected three men instead of a single delegate to go to Washington. The gentleman mentioned yesterday was John Richardson, an ex-governor and former member of

ROBT. W. WILCOX.

the lower house in the legislature. The other two are R. W. Wilcox and A.
Marques.

Mr. Wilcox was found at his office on Konia street yesterday and asked for a statement of the case and information concerning his recent visit to Maui. Said he:

"I have just made the round trip on the Helene partly on my own account and partly because word was sent that I was wanted on Maui, where I am very well known politically and personally. Two big meetings were held. The principal speaker was Tom Clarke.
Remarks were made by several others
and questions were asked of myself and Mr. Richardson. I was unanimously elected a delegate to go to Washington for Maui to oppose annexation. So was John Richardson. When the name of Mr. Marques was mentioned there was some opposition for the reason that he is a haole. Finally this was disposed of by the speech of a school teacher whose name I do not remember. The teacher said the day had passed to inquire whether or no
a man was of any particular nationality when it came to acting for the best interests of the people and their party.
He added that Mr. Marques had done good service for the party in the legislature and had always been counted upon by the natives as one of their best friends. There were only two or three votes against Mr. Marques.

"John Richardson had hoped to leave for Washington by the Australia, but may be delayed one steamer. I want to go with him or to follow him at a very early date if possible. The question of finances is an important one,
as all of us are poor and the people have but little money. Subscription lists are being circulated on Maui. The people over there do not think the Honolulu delegation strong enough or sufficient for the reason that its members do not speak English fluently.

"Another question that will have a considerable weight with me has arisen since my return from Maui. It is something I had not thought of at all. Since arriving in Honolulu certain natives have said that by going into this movement now with the Maui people I would be acting in bad faith with the Government. It was the Republic that pardoned me out of prison after my conviction for treason and I took the oath in good faith. I will see some members of the Government right away and if it is thought I am breaking my word or playing double I will give up the trip and quit the agitation entirely.

"At one of the meetings on Maui I was asked: 'If annexation is defeated which will you be for to rule us?'
I did not like to answer this question, but felt that it had to be done. I told them that according to Mr. Cleveland and the Senate of 1893 and according to President McKinley and the new Congress there would never be any more all rule in Hawaii. I said that if annexation failed I would be for a Republic. This has been my thought for a long time. I said to the people that this was the correct view and that if any papers told them anything else the editors were writing to mislead them."

Mr. A. Marques, Hawaii's famous writer and lecturer on Theosophical topics was in his literary workshop on Emma street when a reporter called.
He said he had learned from a native of his election by Maui meetings to journey to Washington and make battle against annexation. Mr. Marques quietly said he had been out of politics entirely for several years and had given no consideration whatever to the new turn of affairs as touching himself. The native people had been very kind to him in the past and if he should conclude to serve them at this time it would be in the way of a return for past favors to himself. Any journey for him at present would involve sacrifice. His idea had been that the country should remain neutral and independent. He would give the voice of the Maui people attention. It was apparent that Mr. Marques was not deeply interested in current politics.

Attorney-General W. O. Smith was asked what he thought about the proposed pilgrimage of R. W. Wilcox. The Cabinet member smiled, gazed into distance a moment, recounted in half a dozen words the 1895 adventures and mishaps of the Wilcox, remarked in a half undertone something about "inconsistency" and then said that speaking off-hand, so far as he was concerned he did not suppose there would be any protest on the part of the Government if Robert wished to journey to Washington or elsewhere and labor against annexation. He continued that in fact so far as he was able to judge he should say that delegations would not have much weight at Washington.
The question was one of a national policy that the senators would view without paying much heed to sentiment.

A FINE CONCERT

Auspicious Debut of Miss
Hyde at Punahou.

Pauahi Hall Was Crowded—Vocal and Instrumental Music—Select Readings—The Big Organ.

Miss Hyde made her debut before a Honolulu audience that filled Pauahi Hall, Oahu College last evening. Miss Hyde is versatile. She appeared as an accompanist, as a vocal and a piano soloist. She thoroughly delighted her audience in all three capacities and displayed a talent for pleasing that promises her success. She has a sweet voice, and it is well trained and of good compass. Her low tones especially are full of power. She has good command of her voice, as was clearly demonstrated last evening in the varied character of the vocal selections
in which she appeared.

Miss Hyde plays with great taste.
She has a sympathetic touch and brilliant execution. The latter was shown especially in her interpretation of Chopin's waltz in C minor.

Mr. Ingalls opened the program with Chopin's Eleventh Nocturn. Mr.
Ingalls always plays well and has excellent taste in his selections. The College is fortunate in the possession of an exquisitely toned organ, and in
Mr. Ingalls as organist. Mr. Colsten followed with the "Hunter's Song" by Kreutzer. Miss Hyde accompanied Mr.
French who played Schubert's
"Serenade" in a pleasing manner.

Miss Hyde had two duets with Mr.
Babbitt and sang also in a quartette with Miss Kelsey and Messrs. Babbitt and Ingalls. All three selections were thoroughly appreciated by the audience. Miss Ely delighted everyone by reciting Eugene Field's "Seen Things
At Night."

The audience endeavored to get an encore to Sousa's "El Capitan," played on the guitar and mandolin by Messrs.
Babbitt and Hedemann but the two gentlemen did not appear again. They represented well the mandolin and guitar club of last year and the audience would have been pleased to have had another selection. Mr. Howard was greeted with applause as he appeared. His histrionic powers are well known and were displayed to advantage last evening in his rendition of the Seventh Ages from "As You Like
It," and Hamlet's soliloquy at Yorick's grave.

HOW TO CURE BILIOUS COLIC.

I suffered for weeks with colic and pains in my stomach, caused by biliousness, and had to take medicine all the while until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which cured me. I have since recommended it to a good many people.
Persons who are subject to bilious colic can ward off the attack by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms appear. Sold by all druggists and dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for

WAS BEST OF ALL

Banner Meet of the Season at Cyclomere.

THE FINEST RACING YET

Records Made—Whitman Takes a First—Damon Defeats King. A Spill—Oriental Race.

The bicycle season at Cyclomere Park has come and gone and the people who have been wont to spend their Saturday evenings there, will have to seek other places of amusement. The season has been one of great satisfaction to the pleasure loving people of Honolulu as well as to the management of the scenic track. Never upon one occasion were there less than 500 people in the grandstand and upon grounds. Last night passed the mark by all odds, there being by actual count more than 3,300 people present. The season is at an end and Mr. Desky as well as the able manager, Mr. C. L. Clement, should be heartily thanked for the amusement they have provided for the people. Throughout the various occasions, everything has gone on with the greatest of good feeling. If there have been any differences they have always been referred to the proper sources and there has been none of that wrangling on the track that so often mars occasions of the kind. The fast riders from the States have done their best for the people and for the reputation of the track. In this connection, the inimitable "Trilby" Fowler must not be forgotten. His performances have done a great deal toward the success of the season and it is hoped that Honolulu has not seen the last of him. The town boys too have done the right thing and there is credit due them.

The events of Saturday night opened with the first heat of the mile match race between Tom King and Fred. Damon, paced by Porter and Murray. At the start off the chain of the tandem slipped and there was a slight delay. The two riders hung very close together until the last lap when Damon went out like a flash and King was unable to catch up. Damon won in 2:21.

The second heat was run in the same time as the first, Damon winning again but with King very close.

Next came the first heat of the mile novice open with six entries. When on the second lap, A. Robertson fell and came very near to the lake. The race was finished in 2:39 2-5. Treadway taking first place and Nigel Jackson, second.

The second heat was finished in 2:45 4-5 by Cowes with Lloyd, second. The third heat was extremely slow, being finished in 3:00 by Lloyd. Cowes was a close second.

The mile open, professional race was a beauty, but unfortunately, the Island boys got spilled early in the event and the outcome was left to be decided between the big racers from the States. The pacemakers, Harvey and Lishman, started at the usual distance ahead and were just rounding the first turn when Jones attempted to get ahead of them and they went into the head tire of Jones' wheel. Of course there was a spill. Sylvia was following very closely and he went over. Sylvester added his little mite to the bunch on the ground, while the others avoided the difficulty and kept on their way. Sharrick made a magnificent jump at the last turn and came in ahead, with Jones, second. Time, 2:36.

The half mile open for Orientals was the merry-making event of the evening. There were Japanese and Chinese mixed together and from the starting shot, Japan and China struggled for the supremacy. China took the lead and kept it to the finish. Ed. Kong finishing first and Ozawa, second. Time, 1:22 4-5.

The mile handicap, amateur was run off in one heat. A. Giles and Tom King did not enter. There were seven entries in all. Damon taking the scratch and Jackson the biggest handicap of 100 yards. Damon did well in catching up with the men who were ahead of him but this, together with the hard work done in a previous race, was enough to constitute a death blow to his chances of winning the race and he was unable to make the final spurt he has been in the habit of winning his races with. Giles jumped the bunch at the usual place and finished first, with Ludloff, second. Time, 2:28 2-5.

The two-thirds mile handicap race between the fast riders was perhaps the prettiest of all the events of the evening. Jones and Sharrick were scratch men. Sylvester had a handicap of 80 yards. Whitman 50 yards and Sylvia 40 yards. The handicap was a pretty big one but Jones and Sharrick caught the bunch on the third lap. On the last turn, they shot out ahead and Whitman followed. For a moment it looked as if Sharrick would surely win the race but Whitman made the best spurt he has ever succeeded in bringing forth on the track and finished first with Sharrick, second and Jones a very close third. The Island boys were quite a disappointment. Time, 1:29 4-5.

Next came the exhibition by "Trilby" Fowler who turned up to be a real smiling and made his bow before Princess Kaiulani and the grandstand and then proceeded to his race. He did a number of new tricks, which called forth great applause but "Trilby's" tricks are always good, whether old or new.

The last part of the program was taken up with the attempts of various riders to make records. Sharrick, paced by Jones and Whitman, was the first to make the attempt. The third was made in 37 1-5, the very fastest time that has ever been made here. Next came Sylvester, paced by the same men. He succeeded in making the very good time of 39 3-5, beating Sylvia's record by one-fifth of a second. H. Giles, paced by Porter and Murray, made the third in 40 1-5, beating his brother's time by three-fifths of a second, and establishing the amateur record for the track. Sylvia did not like the idea of Sylvester walking off the track as the temporary holder of the opal trophy and announced his intention to try for another record. His pacers were Harvey and Lishman. Sylvia made the excellent time of 39 flat, thus taking the trophy out of Sylvester's hands after the lapse of about five minutes.

It is just possible that some of the fast riders will try for records during the course of the week.

At the finish of the mile professional, Princess Kaiulani escorted by Prince David Kawanakoa, arrived on the scene and walked on the track to the Bruce Waring stand, followed by a party made up of the following: A. S. Cleghorn, Mrs. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd, Miss Parker, Miss Helen Parker, Miss Hart, Miss Ward, Miss Robertson, Miss Holmes, Miss Widemann, Messrs. A. Robertson, Ross, Carl Widemann, Aalapuna, Dr. Eagar, The Hawaiian National band played "Hawaii Pono" and the audience arose. As the Princess and party left, the same courtesy was extended.

TWO MEN NAMED

Appraiser and Deputy Appraiser Are Appointed.

E. R. FOLSOM AND J. G. WAIBEL

Settled Upon by the Cabinet—To Enter Upon Their Duties at Once—Recommended.

Appraiser—E. R. FOLSOM. Assistant Appraiser—J. G. WAIBEL.

The above appointments to the Customs service were agreed upon by the Cabinet last Saturday forenoon. Commissions will issue immediately and the two gentlemen will at once qualify and take up the duties of their respective offices.

E. R. Folsom is a kamaaina who has recently returned to the Islands from the United States. He is a relative of C. C. Harris, who in the reigns of Kamehameha V and Kalakaua was Minister of Foreign Affairs, Minister of Finance and a Justice of the Supreme Court.

In those days Mr. Folsom was well known here as a young man of sterling worth and bright promise. Leaving Honolulu, Mr. Folsom was for many years on the Island of Hawaii, associated with the Hitchcocks and others in various enterprises. A few years ago, Mr. Folsom went to the Coast, where he has been engaged in business. In California his reputation was of the best.

Mr. Folsom returns with his wife and family and will of course make his home here. Among others who recommended him for the post was Minister Hatch. Both Minister Damon and Collector-General McStocker believe they have found at last the right man for this important position.

J. G. WAIBEL.

The second appointment announced will prove a very popular one. Mr. Waibel's recommendation for the place went from the Collector-General to the Finance Minister and the Cabinet with the endorsement of almost every business man in the town.

Mr. Waibel was best known here for years as head salesman in the dry goods department of Theo. H. Davies & Co. In the latter part of 1893, he went to California upon the solicitation of a party of gentlemen of San Francisco who wished him to take charge of a business. After a trial of the arrangement he became dissatisfied with it and a year or more ago he returned to Hawaii.

In Honolulu, Mr. Waibel has represented, under the firm name of J. G. Waibel & Co., the big coast house of J. C. Nobman & Co. and other well known mercantile concerns. Mr. Waibel is well liked in Honolulu and will be recognized by the merchants as a man who has the ability to meet the requirements of his new position.

The Herald says the grounds will be given over to the care of a landscape gardener who will beautify them according to the style in vogue at Del Monte. The hotel will have every convenience for the guests and will be made one of the attractions to tourists visiting the Islands.

Can't be done!

Try to make some baking powder yourself. Buy the cream of tartar and soda, mix them in the right proportions.

Then imagine that you are the manufacturer, and have to make a profit, and besides, sell it to the grocer at such a price that he can make a profit too.

Ask your grocer to sell you his best cream of tartar, see what it costs, and see if you can make pure good baking powder for 25 or 30 cents a pound.

It can't be done.

BUT HALF A GAME

Unsatisfactory Contest of Townies and Regiments.

WERE MAD OVER DECISIONS

Soldier Boys Blamed Referee—Refused to Continue Play—Had Improved—Forfeited.

What there was of Saturday's game of football between the Regiment and Town teams was certainly very good but there was not enough of it to satisfy the people who paid their money at the gate. There was decidedly enough of a certain kind of playing, however.

E. R. Adams was chosen referee and P. L. Weaver, umpire, while Sam Johnson and A. H. Moore acted as linesmen. The Regiment boys took the Ewa side with the ball and the Townies went to the Waikiki side. Previous to the beginning of the game, Mr. Adams took the precaution to call the teams together at the center of the field and there explain to them the conditions under which he and Mr. Weaver would act as the officers in charge of the game. He gave them an opportunity then and there to choose other men if they were not wholly satisfied and obtained from them promise of their willingness to abide by whatever decisions should be made.

The Regiments kicked the ball far into the Townies' territory. Cooke secured it and made a splendid running fight, taking the ball about fifteen yards. Conradt kicked, Austin fumbled and Waterhouse fell on the ball. Cornwell and Conradt made small gains and the ball went to the Regiments on downs. The ball was fumbled and the Townies tried again. Ground was lost and Conradt kicked. The ball went out of bounds and Austin of the Regiments and Armstrong of the Townies ran out among the carriages for it. There was a mix up and Armstrong came out with the ball. Austin sought to take the ball away and then drew back to strike Armstrong. Special Officer Vida was standing near by and gave the captain of the Regiments, a timely warning.

The quarter of the Townies now kept passing the ball to Whitehouse and Schermerhorn, who did splendid work through the line. It was just here that Austin of the Regiments became wildly excited and did work that is condemned by all true sportsmen. Schermerhorn had just made a big gain through the line and had succeeded in getting the ball to within a very few yards of the coveted line. Austin ran around while Schermerhorn was already on the ground and jumping upon him, caught him by the neck and beat his head upon the ground, leaving some "beauty spots."

The Townies were on touch-down bent and Conradt, in a very few minutes after the "accident" to Schermerhorn, carried the ball across the line securing four points. No goal.

The play had lasted just fifteen minutes and it was very evident that the Regiments were playing a much better game than they did with the Punahou on Saturday previous. Their line was solid and the men got through to tackle in fine shape, many times catching the Town players before they had started off with the ball. Then, their interference was better.

There was considerable fumbling at this stage of the game and the ball went from one side to the other without much gain for either. Austin's voice was heard addressing his men "Play rough and hard." The Townies kicked and Waterhouse secured the ball. A few more plays and Schermerhorn carried the ball across the line. Whitehouse punted the ball out and Cooke failed to make a fair catch, thus spoiling the chances for a try at goal. Score, 8 to 0.

The ball was taken back to the center of the field for another kick-off by the Regiments. On account of failing to gain the required number of yards within the limited number of downs, Conradt kicked the ball for the Townies and sent it a good distance down into the territory. A number of the Town boys were off side and according to rule, could not touch the ball until fumbled by a member of the other team or put on side by one of their own players. Both Regiment and Town boys were playing hop skip and jump about the ball, when suddenly the Regiment men ceased playing, claiming that the ball had touched Koff. Conradt picked up the ball and ran with it for a touch-down. Score 14 to 0.

The referee declared a touch-down and the Regiment players immediately retired from the field, claiming that they could not get a decision in any play. The Townies lined up, kicked their goal and retired from the field also. The Regiments were given a certain amount of time to get back on the field again but it was no good and the people, very much disappointed, left the grounds, many declaring they had seen enough of football and expressing it as their opinion that the money paid in at the gate, should be refunded. The Regiments were asked to play the game under protest but the referee saying that there was no association to which they could refer the point under discussion.

The game was, according to rule in such cases, awarded to the Town team with a score of 6 to 0.

Saturday's line-up was as follows:

Town.	Center.	Regiments.
Cockett	L. G.	Houghtaling
Manase	R. G.	Cockett
Waterhouse	L. T.	Hirshmann
Whitehouse	R. T.	Peterson
Armstrong	L. E.	Kilby
Koff	R. E.	Sproat
Cornwell	L. H.	Bechert
Schermerhorn	R. H.	Friedersdorf
Cooke	Q. B.	Myhre
Conradt	F. B.	Austin

NOTES.

People should remember that no coaching is allowed from the side lines and should not allow their voices to arise above those of the umpire and referee, even though they might see certain points by which their favorites could make on their opponents. Of course this does not refer alone to the Punahou players who were for reasons most apparent, very much interested in seeing the Regiments win.

Several carriages, gaily decorated with the colors of the favorites of the people within, were on the grounds.

After the game was over the ticket seller withdrew from the scene of action. There was too much of a run on the bank and the poor fellow could not stand the pressure.

It is possible that the Regiment and Town teams will come together for another game on Saturday next but this will have no effect on the decision of Saturday. That remains, and the Thanksgiving game will be between the Punahou and Townies.

Several Town and a number of Punahou and other players present agreed with Austin that the work of the referee was entirely unsatisfactory.

Austin has, almost unaided built up a very presentable team out of raw material. It is to be believed that after Saturday's experiences he will use a bit more care in his individual playing. There was but a minute and a half more for play in the first half when the big dispute arose.

DAVIES &amp; CO. WIN

"Firm" Cricket Term Best
the H. C. C. Boys.Had a Notable Audience—Some Heavy Batting—Was a Close Contest—Reward Promised.

Notwithstanding the threatening attitude of the weather Saturday afternoon quite a large number of people turned out to witness the much-talked of match between eleven representing the firm of Theo. H. Davies & Co. and the H. C. C. Among the visitors present were noticed: British Consul-General Kenny, Theo. H. Davies, Esq., Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swamy, Mrs. A. Mackintosh, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Soper, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Jordan, Mrs. Ed. Tenney, Mrs. Hugh Gunn, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mist, Miss Pauline Neumann, Miss Juliette King, Miss White, the Misses Parker, Messrs. Will Soper, Hy. Mist, Ernest Ross, J. Low, W. Thompson and Dr. Murray.

From a temporary tent erected on the grounds, Mrs. F. M. Swamy served refreshments. Captain Herbert of the H. C. C. won the toss and elected to bat. He with Alexander Mackintosh opened the innings. Thanks to the sterling play of the latter and David Shanks, the score was carried to 52 before the side was dismissed.

The Firm team was supposed to be stronger in bowling than at the bat, but, owing to the good display of batting shown by A. R. Hatfield, Clive Davies, Donald Ross and Sam Woods, the H. C. C. score was passed, a tremendous cheer announcing the fact. Theo. H. Davies, Esq. was so well pleased with the result that he promised his team a complete cricket outfit which will cost in the neighborhood of $400. Following is the score kindly furnished by Viggo Jacobsen, the scorer:

KEEPING MONEY AT HOME.

Mr. Atkins, in the Forum, calls the attention of American political economists to the statement made to the farmers, that there is now paid the sum of $100,000,000 and more to foreign countries for sugar and that the home production of sugar will retain this sum in the country, and enrich it to that extent. This is a wrong view to take of the matter, he says, because this sugar is not paid for in cash, but with home produce. The United States buys sugar to the value of $82,000,000 from foreign countries and export to the same countries $219,000,000 in value of domestic produce. If the purchase of sugar is stopped, the countries producing it will not be able to purchase American produce, and the American farmers will find a smaller outlet for their bread-stuffs.

While America is making great efforts to place herself on a self-supporting basis, she may, at the same time drive some of her best customers to put themselves on a self-supporting basis too, and so bring disaster to her own trade.

This view of the case may be perfectly true, but the American farmer will not adopt it, or suspend for a moment his prosecution of the sugar beet industry. Balances and adjustments of trade will not influence him, so long as there is a dollar in sight. If he makes a mistake, as he has done by producing bread-stuffs only and he gets into trouble, he will simply blame some one else, and demand some new currency or bonus, or try to clean out the capitalists. He is driven by desperation into sugar beets, just as our planters, in the future, will be driven into something else besides sugar making.

POLITICAL EDUCATORS.

The State University in Berkeley, Cal., is always in difficulty, owing to its control by politicians. The Argonaut says, and we presume it is the truth:

During the last twenty-five years the regents have found it impossible to secure a president who could administer its affairs successfully, and during the thirty years of the university's existence there have been twelve changes in the presidency.

The trouble has been due to the manner in which the affairs of the university have been conducted. The board of regents—which should have confined its activity to regulating the business affairs and selecting a capable president to attend to the internal administration—has attempted to run everything. The administration of a modern university involves a multitude of details and considerations that would tax all the energies of any man. Merchants and lawyers, however thorough their qualifications and however strong their interest, can not attend to these affairs successfully during their leisure moments. When Stanford University is mentioned, people immediately think of President Jordan; the board of trustees is never heard of. And Stanford University has grown in strength and influence during the few years of its existence in a manner to put the Berkeley institution to the blush.

The policy of the board of regents in managing the State University necessarily limits their choice for president to weak and incompetent men. When the university was first established, Daniel C. Gilman, the best president the institution ever had, was invited to the presidency. Seeing no attraction in becoming the hired man of the regents, he positively declined, and President Durant was appointed. Durant struggled for two years in his unpleasant position and then resigned. Gilman was then invited again and, yielding to the persuasions of friends, accepted. One of his first acts was a revision of the course of instruction and he involved the dismissal of Professor Carr. The preponderant view was introduced in the lecture-room, but the course of study at Berkeley, but was defeated. A political cabal, in and out of the board of regents, attacked Gilman as an educator and administrator. Gilman demanded an investigation, was cleared of all the charges, at once resigned the presidency, shook the dust of California from his shoes, and accepted the more congenial post of president of Johns Hopkins.

President Kellogg is another illustration of the kind of president regent dictation will produce. It is notorious that he is not prepared to assume responsibility for any important action, and he himself practically admitted the fact during his plea in favor of the retention of the committee on internal affairs. He has been a respected professor at the university since its institution, but his administration of the presidency does not show one act that would justify his appointment.

The head of a school, or college, or a university must be a despot. The selection must be made and then he must be left alone to act as he will. Only those institutions in education and in trade are greatly successful that are governed by the "one man power." But the right man must be chosen.

When the American Congress proposed a few years ago to apply $20,000,000 to aid negro education, and there was sore need of it, the principal of the school in Hampton, Va., was largely instrumental in defeating the measure, although it would have given his own institution $500,000. He took the ground that public money so appropriated, created political influence, and that meant demoralization.

The singular good fortune of our own educational system has, so far, given rise to little or no difficulties of the kind that exist in so many of the American communities. We are not very sanguine as to the future. In the coming reorganization of our social and political life, with or without annexation, due to causes which we all comprehend, the probabilities are that "politics" will largely control our education all matters. For, as a community, we do not realize the power of the masses.

THE RESEARCH CLUB.

Rev. Mr. Birnie's "Research Club" may be of inestimable value to this community, which is pretty much at sea on social and political questions. Hawaii, like the Princess of the fairy tale, lies asleep in her prosperity. The fiery kiss of trouble only touched her lips several years ago. The rude racial and industrial hands, which grow stronger every year, have not yet shaken her out of her dreams, as they have shaken some of the British sugar cane colonies. The answers to these questions must be given by the young men. It is the experience of the world that men of middle life, and old men, do not face and solve perplexing problems. It is the young men who create social revolutions and political changes. When Harvey discovered the circulation of the blood, it was said that no physician over forty years of age believed it. Young men are idealists, until touched with the dry rot of conservatism which comes with age. They make new and better laws, until they too become tired with the many burdens that fall on them, and accept the maxim of "immediate profits and benefits."

The Club should be a powerful agent for good in the community, not as a political power, but as an informing power. It should be a very serious Club, knowing and realizing that the social and political situation here, either with or without annexation has no parallel, and that it is almost inevitable that this community will have to pay dearly for its experience, as other countries pay for it, unless it has wisdom and forethought. These are general statements. If made in detail, they would arouse attention and even startle those of advanced age, whose minds are too inflexible to take any new education in affairs.

It is fortunate that Mr. Birnie has organized this Club. In the evolution of the Church, it finds its great mission in obliterating the distinction between man as a religious being on one side and a secular being on the other; a creature of high moral creeds and another creature, at the same time, of very sinful practices, governed by different principles. The Church begins to touch man as an instructor and adviser in all of his relations with men. The pastors are gradually becoming the students, the thinkers, the philosophers for men in the discharge of all of their duties. The intelligent portion of this class of men decline to be atheists, who exclude God, or the operations of His laws in the matter and spirit of the world, operations that are just as searching and inflexible in the doings of the Amputation Club, or the meetings of the anti-annexationists, as they are in the illimitable movements of suns and planets. When the Church urges men to study with reverence and for practical uses, all of the facts which underlie life, it leads them to higher planes of thought and action. It is the evolution of the Church which creates that supremely valuable institution, the Y. M. C. A. The evolution will, in time, reach for and supervise other departments of social life, and social life means political life, because man cannot be treated in sections. We believe Mr. Birnie has undertaken most valuable work, in times that are especially critical.

The Research Club should among other things, study the science of political evolution and discover its laws. There is nothing haphazard about its operation.

"Every fact has its pedigree."

Every fact that has happened here, was caused or created by another preceding fact. Every thought is a fact that is as important as a material fact. The French people after Sedan "thought" that the Empire should end. Not a gun was fired. The Emperor left. Only a "thought" worked the revolution. But that thought had a long pedigree, governed as much by law as the pedigree of a horse is determined by physical laws, which are Divine laws.

There are on these Islands 110,000 persons. Everyone of them is a material fact and immediately or remotely has influence in the social life here. That influence may make itself suddenly manifest, or it may be like some plants, of very slow growth. These facts are every day becoming the progenitors of other facts. And these newly born facts always bear heredity marks. The peace and value of these 110,000 "facts" we must thoroughly understand, because if we do, we shall know about the facts that will follow them, and we may be able to vary or modify the breed, as the stock men say.

It is an easy affair to get together facts which other people have discovered and written about. Lazy students are apt to do this. We need close, original investigation. There is a dispute among geologists about coral formation. Professor Agassiz, who visited us several weeks ago left his comfortable home in Cambridge, and is now in Fiji making original investigations. Rich as he is, he has the mental activity to make the study of corals on the ground itself, instead of sitting in his comfortable study and accepting the loose statements of other people.

If the Research Club will realize that an intelligent knowledge of social conditions is one of most serious duties of the citizen and that this knowledge is like precious stones, not easily obtained and it will make it the patriotic duty of its members to patiently secure that knowledge, we are sure that their descendants will in due time, hold them in precious memory.

MARRIAGE AND PENSIONS.

The United States Commissioner of Pensions does not take elevated views on the marriage question. He emphatically denies that they are made in Heaven, and imprudently intimates that there is a Boodle god in the States, just as we have a Sugar god here.

He gives as one of the reasons for the increase of the pension list, the marriage of young women to old soldiers and pensioners, and he asks that a law be passed cutting off these women from drawing pensions, when they become widows. The widows' pension are not large, hardly exceeding $10 per month, but in the rural districts, that sum is considered quite a competence, and places the widow beyond want.

In the Southern States there are many thousands of Confederate widows of Union soldiers who draw pensions, for many thousands of young Union soldiers settled in the South after the war, and since the wholesale granting of pensions by Congress, with pensions to widows, have found no difficulty whatever in finding wives.

About ten years ago, a careful estimate was made of the number of widows, surviving husbands of 1870. Few as the battles were and with little loss of life, it appeared that 75 years after that war, there were 30,000 surviving widows. This was accounted for by the fact that the old soldiers, as they became widowers, married very young women, who counted on becoming widows at an early date, with small, comfortable pensions. Seventy-five years after that war and at the present time, the women pensioners greatly exceed in numbers the male pensioners.

The same causes are operating now. The death bed marriages of old soldiers and young women will continue.

The charge is made against the "society" girls, that they marry for money. The facts indicate that the poor girls do the same thing. If matches are made in Heaven there must be a Bureau there that keeps close watch on the finances of the worms of the dust and it does some close figuring.

THE ELECTION GAMBLERS.

In business matters, opinions make and unmake fortunes. A man simply happens to think the right way and becomes rich. He thinks the wrong way and loses.

The disposition of excited and ignorant men to "back their judgment" in the results of elections, has created during late years, a class of men who are experts in foretelling election events and make a most profitable business out of it, just as they establish pool rooms and make up betting books on horse racing.

The predictions of the average man about political events is usually worthless, because he is a partisan. He fortells, as his passions and interests direct him. In the last great American election, seven millions of voters predicted the election of McKinley. About six and one-half millions predicted the election of Bryan. The opinions of the partisan political press is formed in a similar way. The gamblers on elections make a careful study of the situation, just as they study the pedigree and records and points of race horses. They are cold-blooded men, that is, they have the faculty of laying aside feeling, enthusiasm and hope, and study the drift of thought in both political parties. They look especially for the quiet and almost hidden movements of thought and action among the people. They invest money in making investigations. Nor do they pay much attention to the beliefs of politicians and partisans. Some of the closest observers of this class of gamblers, often make valuable suggestions to experienced party leaders, who are apt to get into the fogs of partisanship, and like to test their own opinions by the gamblers' estimates.

This knowledge becomes a valuable cash capital in the betting trade. It is coolness matched against impetuosity, the shooting at the bull's eye of chance by one who has a steady nerve, as against the men whose fingers tremble on the trigger.

The latest San Francisco papers contain the betting rates on the result of the election for Mayor of Greater New York: "Van Wyck 5 to 2 against the field." In the opinion of men quite indifferent to the merits of the candidates, the chances in favor of Van Wyck's election are much more than even in his favor. The next steamer will bring the figures of the returns.

One of the amusing features of journalism is, that the editorial staff of a partisan journal will on occasions declare in most fervent language the certainty of the overwhelming triumph of the candidates supported by the paper, and at the same time, make heavy bets against his election, in accordance with the opinions of the pool rooms.

There seems to be a curious "moral" connected with this matter. There can be no doubt about the great evils of gambling and the misery it creates. And yet, the gamblers of the class we allude to, illustrate the best scientific methods of thought, coolness, thoroughness, freedom from bias, a determination to arrive at a correct result. They do not shout in the market places, that "knowledge is power," but they simply acquire knowledge, make it up in the form of a trap, bait it with a piece of human cupidity, and catch the ignorant.

The St. Paul Globe discusses the views of Mr. James A. Tawney, M. C. from Minnesota, who recently visited these Islands. It complains that he favors annexation, although he admits, "that the natives have little or nothing to do with the administration of the Islands; that all those in power are of English or American birth; that the alleged scheme of Japan to resist, forestall or prevent annexation is a myth." But, in spite of all this, it says, Mr. Tawney remains an annexationist and he is "a mournful witness of the power of party prepossessions and party allegiance, after he has had pass before his eyes the spectacle that demonstrates the impropriety of annexation."

The Globe seems to lose sight of the larger and more important fact that the scope of American policy in the Pacific will not be altered by trifling events here. It did not have to wait for some Japanese affair to set it in operation. It began operations sixty years ago.

The Civil Laws of the Hawaiian Islands (printed by the Hawaiian Gazette Company), are now published. The compilation was made by Mr. S. M. Ballou, and is a very creditable work. The separation of civil and penal provisions, mixed as they were in the different statutes, called for unusual care on the part of the compiler, but the separation seems to have been so carefully made, both the Bench and the Bar will find the volume very valuable. If annexation should take place, this compilation will be of the very greatest value to the commission that will draft the new laws which will govern the inhabitants of these Islands.

The exhibition of the Kilohana Art League was opened last evening to a private view. The pictures number seventy-six. The exhibition is an improvement over that of last year, and indicates that the study and love of art is increasing in this community. In no place in America, at least, with many more Anglo-Saxon inhabitants than there are in the city, can there be found a higher order of artistic work. It is good evidence of the cosmopolitan character of the people. For the standard of excellence is fixed by those who have studied in the art centres of the world.

During the term which the late William E. Russell served as Governor of Massachusetts, one of his little girls was asked by her school teacher, "who is Governor of Massachusetts?" She replied that she did not know, and was directed by her teacher to ask her papa. The next day the question was repeated and she answered, "papa says he is Governor of Massachusetts, but you can't always believe what papa says."

GETS A FORTUNE.

Cook on a Merchantman Heir in an Estate of Millions.

M MacDonald, the cook of the bark Nuuanu, which arrived in port a few days ago, is considered the luckiest man aboard that vessel by the rest of the crew, but he does not look at the matter in that light himself. He calmly goes on with his cooking and says that "there is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip."

By the last steamer from the Coast, the news came from MacDonald's mother in the States to the effect that his grandchild, who died recently in the State of North Carolina, left a fortune of about $3,000,000. There are nine living relatives so that there is quite a slice for each one, should anything come of the will. MacDonald says that he does not intend to bother himself a bit so that, in case there is disappointment in store for him, he will not feel it very much.

POLICE ON WHEELS

Marshal Brown's Bicycle Corps Organized.

Men Will Work in Teams—Two on Each Patrol Watch—How the Service Will Be Managed.

With the exception of one man, the bicycle patrol in connection with the regular police force, has been fully organized, and now whenever there is a fight on the streets, the participants will not be given the warning of the beats of the hoofs of a patrolman's horse on the pavement but will be advanced upon noiselessly.

Then again instead of there being one man sent out on an emergency, there will always be two, one a haole man and the other a native. This will assure dispatch in the work to be done and will put a stop to some of the assertions that are made against police officers who go single handed to make an arrest.

There will be two men attached to each watch and these will be at the police station during the time of duty of their watch. They will be, of course, subject to the orders of the officer in charge of the foot police. Following are the men already chosen by the Marshal:

First watch—Officer Gardner and Nigel Jackson.

Second watch—Officer Espinda and Chas. Lamberton.

Third watch—James Kalii, recently an officer at Oahu Jail. The other man has not yet been chosen.

The men's wheels are placed against the fence in the yard opposite the police station and are cleaned and oiled regularly to keep them in good order for work.

Nigel Jackson should be able to make some good records in the next bicycle meet at Cyclomere Park for he will certainly be able to keep in good training.

NEW SOCIAL CLUB.

Forty Prospective Members and Meeting Called.

An attempt is being made to form a social club as a successor to the Hagey Social Club but on much broader lines. Its main principles are good fellowship and conduct; open to persons of all politics, religions, races and occupations; the majority to rule; the club to be self-supporting from its beginning and not to incur debt under any consideration; punctual payment of dues (probably $1 a month), satisfactory arrangements for their payment at stated periods by those temporarily unemployed. No intoxicating beverages to be permitted on the premises and no gambling or betting to be allowed.

The object is, of course, to have a comfortable club where men may smoke, read, converse, or play games of skill aloof from costly or unpleasant surroundings. As above forty requests for such a club have been handed into Messrs. Charles Lind, James Monkhouse and Walter Brash of the old club. A preliminary meeting will be held on Thursday evening next, the 18th inst., at Charles Lind's, Nuuanu between King and Hotel at 7:30, when all interested in such a movement are cordially invited to attend.

Nauauo, a native woman, was arrested late last night for disturbing the quiet of the night. She had been imbibing too freely and started in to waken the people living in the vicinity of the corner of Queen and Punchbowl streets.

FAIR DAY WANTED

Prof. Buckhalter to Photograph the Eclipse.

En Route per the Belgic—Bound for India—A Master of Coronal Photography.

Prof. Chas. Buckhalter, F. R. A. S., was a passenger by the Belgic for India to observe the eclipse. He inquired for his friend Captain Kidwell and spent a couple of hours with his old acquaintance Frank Davey, the photographer. This scientist is director of the Chabot Observatory of Oakland and professor of astronomy and geology in the Oakland high school. Professor Buckhalter presented the following account of his expedition as being authentic:

The programme of work for the Chabot astronomer is not nearly so elaborate as that mapped out by Professor Campbell of the Lick Observatory, but it has one advantage over all other eclipse expeditions in that Buckhalter's photographic method is entirely original, and has never been previously utilized in eclipse work. The "Pieron photographic telescope" was taken to Japan last year by Mr. Buckhalter, fitted with his own design for exposing the plates, but the journey was fruitless (as everybody knows) by reason of clouds. Attorney W. W. Pieron furnished the money for the expedition.

Buckhalter's method of photographing the sun's corona contemplates a short exposure time for the bright inner corona, and a long exposure for the faint outlying streamers on one end the same plate. To do this he has a specially constructed plate holder, containing a revolving cam shaped diaphragm, the centre of which is arranged to be coincident with the contour of the sun's image. When the plate is exposed this diaphragm is rapidly rotated by clockwork, thus permitting the outer portion of the plate to receive impressions during the whole time of exposure, while the central portions (occupied by the bright corona) are only exposed to the image for a certain fraction of the whole time.

Experience in coronal photography has shown that a plate exposed for one or two seconds will give a sharp picture of the inner corona, and no outside streamers, while in a plate exposed long enough to portray the extensions, all of the inner detail is blotted out, or over exposed.

On Mr. Buckhalter's plates he hopes to obtain perfect representations of the eclipse, as it would appear to a trained eye, with polar rays and all the closer details shown as distinctly as the equatorial streamers and on the same plate. If this can be done, it will be a wonderful advance in eclipse photography, because heretofore it has only been possible to obtain a correct representation of any observed eclipse by combining the results of many photographs (of different exposure times) into a more or less unsatisfactory drawing.

At the station Mr. Buckhalter will need the services of four assistants. He hopes to obtain these without difficulty. In India there are a number of army posts, where are stationed many officers of Her Majesty's service, all of them well educated and trained in the work of observing. It has been stated that willing volunteers will be found competent to handle all the scientific apparatus that can possibly be transported to India for the eclipse.

The probable station to be occupied by the Chabot party is on the west coast of India, in the Deccan, and about 250 miles south of Bombay. At this point Mr. Buckhalter calculates that the eclipse will last for two minutes and seven seconds. Totality will come on at 1 o'clock in the afternoon (or at 8 o'clock a. m. of Greenwich time) at which time the altitude of the sun above the horizon will be in the neighborhood of fifty degrees. The path of totality in this eclipse extends for a length of about 1,000 miles across India with a width of about 50 miles for the shadow path. The meteorological conditions are particularly favorable, and it will be an exceedingly untoward chance that robs the ambitious astronomers of clear weather during this eclipse.

STRAIGHT BUSINESS.

Wm. Eassie Head of a Solid Klondike Investment Company.

Much is being said about Mr. William Eassie and his determination to go to the Klondike, but the true state of affairs in regard to the project, has not yet been stated. When he goes to the Klondike it will not be in the winter but in the spring when the weather is fit for travel. The decision to go to Alaska was not the impulse of a moment, but the outcome of grave consideration. When he goes up, he will take not only his money, but that of twenty young men who have confidence in his ability as a miner and as an honest man, the latter of which is more to the point. Each of the men mentioned, has entrusted to his care, the sum of $500 and this he is willing to risk in the hopes of gaining largely from it in the future. He was offered the sum of $100,000 on Kaula by some very well-known rich men there but he told them that he would not take their money. It was the interests of the poor men that he wanted to further.

The twenty men mentioned have formed themselves into a company and will have a constitution and by-laws just as any other organization. Mr. Eassie will go to the States very soon and will then seek about for expert men to take up with him. He will go to the gold fields and there locate or purchase claims. Then he will send down here for the men who have put their money into the venture and when they go up, it will not be a matter of hunting around for a claim and probably getting left, but it will be with the knowledge that there is something there to go after.

THE PLAY.

Opening Bill for Frawley Company Engagement.

The sale opened yesterday for the single performances during the coming season of the Frawley Company. The opening performance will be "Christopher, Jr.," on Thursday, November 18th, the story of which is as follows:

The young people are by accident thrown in an embarrassing situation in a compartment of a railroad train. The irate uncle makes the young man sign a marriage deed and the pair are united without having seen each other. Subsequently they are thrown together and fall in love. Christopher has been a mild sort of a scapegrace. His father, a wealthy East Indian merchant, believes him worse than he really is, tells him to change his name, and banishes him from the family hearthstone after giving him a clerkship in his gloomy Bombay establishment. Of course, Christopher Jr., is made of the right sort of mettle, and demonstrates his worth in a way to save his father's business from going to wreck. The girl, to whom he is married without knowing it, is the niece of the silent partner in the firm. Neither can admit the affection they feel for each other on account of the railway marriage, until the knot is unraveled, so to speak, and left to bind them firmly together "forever and ever after."

LABOR DISTRIBUTED.

Two Are Settled.

Allan Jones, the wheel rider, is now with the Press Publishing company, having been engaged to assist in a rush of printing business. Mr. Jones will take up his residence in Honolulu and in addition to racing at Cyclomere meets will learn rowing and engage in other contests with the athletes.

Dan Whitman, the Southern California champion who has become such a great favorite in Honolulu has been placed by Manager Vettesen in charge of the bicycle department of the Hawaiian Hardware company's business. Mr. Whitman will ride the Tribune in his future racing here and can convince anyone in his quiet way that his mount is second to no wheel on the market.

Kalakaua's Birthday.

This is the anniversary of the birth of the late King Kalakaua. Instead of the big regatta of former days there will be miniature yacht racing in the bay. Prince Cupid will start his two times winner model and John Mahuka and others will have entries.

At the Hawaiian hotel in the evening there will be a concert by the Government band. In arranging the program Professor Berger has included some of the airs that were favorites with the late King.

Does Not Accept.

Rather to the surprise of a number of his friends, Mr. J. G. Waibel declines to qualify for the post of Deputy Port Appraiser. He will leave for the Coast by the Australia and expects to return in January. While absent Mr. Waibel will likely make some new business connections. He decided Monday morning after consulting several friends to adopt the course outlined.

The position of permanent assistant to Mr. Folsom will not be filled for the present.

Pacific Tennis Club.

The boys of the Pacific Tennis club will be at home to their friends at the courts, Palace Square, from 3 to 5:30 on Wednesday, November 17th, the occasion being the first Ladies' day of the winter season and a welcome home to the members and friends who have lately returned from abroad.

"The worst cold I ever had in my life was cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes W. H. Norton, of Sutter Creek, Cal. "This cold left me with a cough and I was expectorating all the time. The Remedy cured me, and I want all of my friends when troubled with a cough or cold to use it, for it will do them good." Sold by all druggists and dealers. ## THE WHEEL NIGHT

Y. M. C. A. Enterprise That Was a Success.

Rooms of Building Crowded With Bicycle Riders—Racers and Friends Entertained.

About 100 young men of the city—with a sprinkling of older ones—were entertained at the Y. M. C. A. last night. The occasion was a reception to "The Heroes of Cyclomere." The affair was a happy inspiration with Mr. Coleman and will accomplish a great deal in the direction of popularizing the institution. A number of the members sufficient to take care of the callers entered heartily into the spirit of the event. The young men had a fine evening of it. All the riders, including the Coast delegation, were on hand early in the evening.

Outside the hall at the corner of Hotel and Alakea were a couple of hundred bicycles, though many of the wheelmen left their mounts at home. In a room at the left of the entrance hats were checked and a numerous reception committee guided the visitors about. The reading room was cleared and refreshments were served both here and in the large hall upstairs. Many of the arrivals went direct to the gymnasium, and were greatly interested in the equipment. A number of residents, strangers to the place, were brought out. Mr. Coleman remarked that he noticed many strange faces. The majority of these will return to the association rooms again to read, play games or use the gymnasium apparatus.

The instrumental music was furnished by the Quintette Club and the airs were lively and pleasing. Singing for the evening was by a special glee club, with C. Rice as leader. The members are: Messrs. Macurda, Dr. Burgess (2), Chamberlain, Forbes, Templeton, Berry, Dr. Garvin, Fletcher. They gave spirited college songs and one number with a description of Sharrick's collision with a steam roller. Encores were demanded.

David Kool gave an exhibition of club swinging. It was a very pretty show. The smiling Tribby Fowler did trick riding upstairs and in the gymnasium and introduced some new feats. Mr. Fowler was received with great applause and was encouraged with hand-clapping throughout his performance.

The wheel exhibit was a feature. Every concern in town was represented.

This is the list:

Columbia, E. O. Hall & Son.

Cleveland, H. E. Walker.

Kensington, Honolulu Bicycle Company.

Remington and Eldredge, Pacific Cycle Company.

Tribune, Hawaiian Hardware Company.

Sterling, Frank Atherton, with Castle & Cooke Household Supply Department.

Hawaii, Hawaiian Cycle & Manufacturing Company.

There was a complete display of lamps, pumps, cyclometers, tires and sundries. The wheels and accessories were on tables in plain view and all were decidedly handsome. "Jerry" Reynolds and Tom King had rigged up for the Remington show an 1898 chainless wheel model that attracted a good deal of attention.

The wheel boys will want a reception every time there is a meet or offener if possible.

Policemen on Trial.

The note on the Fred. Mauer profanity case given in this paper yesterday morning was "by authority," as it were and of course was correct. Later Marshal Brown concluded that instead of serving a penal summons on Mauer he would drop the case against the Australia's electrician and prosecute the policemen. They have been arrested and will have a hearing before Judge Wilcox today if they are ready for trial. There is well grounded suspicion that they used too much force in arresting Mauer. The case against the latter, when sifted down, appeared to be a very mild one, but as the Marshal remarked if he thinks he has a very great grievance he has recourse to the civil courts.

Herald's New Dress.

The Hawaii Herald for November 11, the first number issued by its new editor, Jas. T. Stacker, formerly City Editor of the Advertiser, comes out in a new dress. The old headline, with its accompanying picture of harbor, railroad and mill, is replaced by a simple caption in heavy faced lines. It is announced in the leading article that the "mission of the Hawaii Herald is to assist in developing Hawaii." The editor apologizes for the lack of space for reading matter occasioned by an increase in advertisements.

Theater Notes.

American Minister Sewall will have the Irwin box on the opening night of the Frawley engagement.

Princess Kaiulani for the first appearance of the Frawleys this season will with her party have the lower box, opposite the American Minister and Mrs. Sewall and friends.

In the great war play Shenandoah, soldiers are required and Manager Marx has secured the services of a detail from Captain Zeigler's Company F. of the Regulars.

Taxes Piled In.

Assessor Shaw, Deputies Wright and Thompson, Clerks Holt and Amana and the entire tax office force had one of the busiest of many lively days yesterday. From the opening in the morning till the close in the afternoon the window was crowded with people who delayed payment to the last for the sake of using the money and to avoid the 10 per cent penalty. The receipts were very heavy and the officials were busy till a late hour last night. The proportion of people who have paid up on time is greater than ever before. When the office opened yesterday morning more taxes had been collected in the district of Honolulu for 1897 than for the entire island of Oahu at the same time last year.

To Winter in the States.

Mrs. W. Maxwell and children are leaving this week to winter in the States. They will spend most of the winter months in Vermont, going further North, probably to Canada, for the summer. They will return next autumn with Dr. Maxwell who expects to make a short visit to England next summer to visit his family near London. It is remembered that Dr. Maxwell celebrated the golden wedding of his family some two years ago.

Nine More Witnesses.

At about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Deputy Sheriff Coney of Kaula, was notified that he would have to go right back to the Garden Isle on important business. On calling at the Marshal's office he was ordered to leave on the James Makee and to secure nine extra witnesses in the Smith murder case and to bring them back on the same steamer, returning Thursday.

OUR REPUTATION

For fine watch work is widespread; but we wish to impress the few who may not yet be in line, with the necessity of sending their watches when out of order to us directly; and not first allow every tinkler to ruin the watch, after which, send it to us for proper repairs.

The Cost is always more to you, after such treatment; ever so much better to send it right down to us, for we allow nothing but perfect work to leave our workshop.

You will be surprised, too, how much cheaper it will be, and how much more satisfactory to you.

SCHOOLS IN JAPAN

Kindergartens Are Doing Much Valuable Work.

JAPANESE TEACHERS IN SOME

Military Drill Plays a Prominent Part in All Government Schools.

[Special Correspondence.]

EDITOR P. C. A.—Here we are in the house built by Rev. O. H. Gulick, the last home of Father and Mother Gulick, after closing up their missionary life and labors in Hawaii. It is now the home of Miss Dudley and Miss Barrows, who have long been engaged in educational and evangelistic work among the Japanese. Miss Dudley started 23 years ago a Girl's School now grown into Kobe College, an institution with dormitories, music hall, gymnasium, recitation hall, science hall and a sewing hall recently built in Japanese style, in the lower rooms of which the girls are taught ceremonial tea making and arrangements of flowers. Without these last two accomplishments no Japanese girl's education is considered complete. The cost of the building was defrayed by gifts from the Japanese. The site is a commanding one, high up on the hill side; and the grounds ample, yet none too large for so large an institution. The government has large schools of various kinds in the neighborhood, and the foundations are being laid for one that in point of size will eclipse all the others. Much time is devoted to military drill in these government schools. It is a comical sight to see the small boys in long toggy marching and countermarching, the captain seeming to be a boy not much older than the young soldiery.

Miss Howe has a large kindergarten in many large rooms. The original cost of the building, $1000, was defrayed by money contributed by the Japanese before Miss Howe's arrival. Her enthusiasm and tact in the management of this school have made kindergarten work very popular all over Japan. While we were visiting the school a young Japanese woman came in to get an insight into the management. She was from a town in the vicinity where she has a government kindergarten of 60 pupils. She herself had had only three months' training as a kindergarten.

Kobe is a pleasant place for home or for business, the large foreign population having some part in the management of the municipality. But judging from appearances on the street there is a large consumption of whiskey and soda. It is the same sad story all through these Eastern parts. In the foreign cemeteries are the graves of many young men of dissipated lives that might have been honored and useful were it not for this blight of alcohol, more to be dreaded than the bubonic plague or the cholera in such instances. The city streets are wide and the buildings substantial in the foreign settlement. There are more and finer new Japanese buildings than I have seen elsewhere and of two stories. So with the stores, several of them are of brick and two stories in height. But in this country of fires and of earthquakes, one hardly knows which to fear the more, the toppling bricks or the tender box of wood. I have never noticed till I arrived in Kobe that what I supposed was a smearing of the house with lampblack instead of oil paint is really charring of the outside of the wood for preservation against the weather.

We see here, too, among the people a different type of face and features. I am impressed with the fact that the Japanese are a mixture of races. Some faces are very much like the type of the Irish, and others have the features of the American Indians. Here I see among the women more of the oval face and straight nose more of the Grecian type, instead of the common broadened and flattened physiognomy of the ordinary Japanese. So too, I have seen here more of the type made familiar by the pictures of the Samurai, with the cigar shaped eye on the top of the head. They are large, finely formed men with round full heads of what I suppose to be the Mongolian type, but off a little distance I find myself unable to tell whether the features are those of a man or a woman. They may be the wrestlers, the strong men, of old times.

We have found the band of missionary workers here largely composed of women. We have met them socially and seen their work and its results as well as methods. I must say, that as the Doshisha was fortunate in having such a corps of able and energetic men, of high intellectual and spiritual qualifications, so has Kobe and its schools and churches been fortunate in the schools and teachers. In this quiet home where all the appointments and appurtenances are in good taste, it is not what the eyes see, but what is behind and above the things visible, the mind and heart that have planned and furnished it all without look or thought of ostentatiousness. In striking contrast with the Imperial Palace is the Home Beautiful of Santa Simplicitas. No wonder that when it was intimated that the home might be broken up, the Japanese minister, to whom this was said, remonstrated, for "there was no place he liked to visit so much." It is the work of Christianity to elevate and purify the ideals of men, and their homes should be antechambers to the mansions of blessedness above, rather than the dark and dismal dens of the cave dwellers. It is noticeable how much the personal influence of godly and cultured women has in sweetening and smoothing the intercourse between the workers from foreign lands and the leaders of thought and activity among the native Christians. It needs the woman's hand to put the finishing touch to the impression which Christianity is making on the heathen homes and life.

The church buildings that we have seen at Kyoto, Osaka and Kobe are creditable specimens of architecture. They are fashioned after the ecclesiastical style, but have their modification adapted to this country. There are pointed Gothic windows, and colored glass, and platform and reading desk; but there are shelves at the entrance for clogs, and seats covered with matting instead of cushions. In the Kobe church there was open carved work as in the Japanese home over the sliding screens. The symbolism of the vine and branches and fruit was eminently appropriate. There was a gallery; but the acanthus and basket of the Corinthian capital was a panel on the beam between the pillars of the lower floor and of the gallery. It is to the credit of these churches that they are self supporting, and are trying to carry out the idea of organization for Christian service rather than for Pharisaic self satisfaction.

The Gaelic is not expected to arrive till daybreak tomorrow. Kobe is a port of call for many steamers, and the noise of steam whistles and of sirens is heard at all hours of the night. The first sounds to break the stillness of the night as day comes on is the rattling of the outside board screens in the houses as these are removed to let in the daylight. We are not to sail till 10 p. m., but as these are moonlight nights we expect to see much of the beauty of the inland sea under favorable conditions of air and sky. It is cool for us islanders, the thermometer standing at 67 deg., but making fire in the grates is postponed as long as possible. We have not had a mail for a long while, the Aztec falling way behind the schedule time. This is the last opportunity we shall have to write from Japan. We have before us a month of sailing in the China sea, visiting Shanghai, Hongkong, Canton and Macao. I am curious to learn what different impression China and its civilization will make upon us in Oriental habits and Western ideas.

Kobe, Oct. 12, 1897.

CHARITY METHODS

System is Advocated in a Sermon by Mr. Birnie.

Too Much of Indiscriminate Giving. Should be One List—Good Samaritan—Poor Tax.

The announcement that Rev. D. P. Birnie would speak on the subject of "Associated Charities" attracted to Central Union besides the usual congregation last evening a number of ladies and gentlemen interested in philanthropic work, but not regular church attendants. The music was especially good and the discourse was interesting and thoughtful.

The parable of the Good Samaritan was read. Rev. Mr. Birnie said that the concern of those who would give relief was with the man who was down, the man in trouble. Time should not be wasted in inquiring how the distress came about. That might be a subject for later investigation and remedy. It might be the emigration company, it might be whisky, it might be labor conditions. It mattered not what the reason if there was a call for charitable action at once. Wounds received in a drunken brawl were just as painful and just as appealing as those sustained in honorable combat upon the field of battle or in the performance of duty.

There should be method in the extension of help in volunteer relief work. Really, all benevolent societies are simply make-shifts. The central idea of Christianity is to do away with poverty and thus abolish the necessity for the present great relief work.

The problem of the hour is the poor as they present themselves. Usually the children make manifest the existing distress. They cry out and there must be heed to their cry.

The second consideration is the relief agencies. There are in Honolulu six principal ones, as follows: American, British, German, Portuguese, Hawaiian and the Stranger's Friend Society, the last being the oldest. Besides these are found the church charitable bureaus, the lodges and benevolent secret societies and the Asiatic organizations.

The third question and the vital one upon which Rev. Mr. Birnie dwelt the longest and strongest, was that of cooperation. He did not propose amalgamation. His idea was that each society should maintain its individuality as at present, with its officers and working forces and field agents. What he did advise and what he believes will be undertaken at once was that all beneficiaries be placed upon a single list open only to inspection of representatives of the various societies. This he said would be a big step in the direction of centralizing and attaching system to the work. All of the societies are now doing nobly, but some of them are at times imposed upon, many of them do lots of unnecessary work and there is much indiscriminate giving that should be stopped. Relief work cannot suffer delay, but there should be investigation of each case. The pastor declared that there was altogether too much of bestowal of charity by citizens whose favors were not appreciated and who through ignorance of the circumstances of a case often encouraged those who were unworthy. It would take a very short time to look up a man or a woman or a family and then no mistake could be made. The town is becoming too large for the old careless system of going into the pocket instant on request. The last suggestion and one that will be followed was for a poor tax. Rev. Mr. Birnie said no method from the United States or elsewhere could be applied here. Local system must be evolved out of local conditions. The idea was not to draw upon the state though the money might come directly from the public coffers. The plan was to levy upon those who never assist charity work—citizens of a retiring nature and absentees. At present the circle of givers is limited. All who are able should contribute in proportion to their ability.

RESOLUTIONS.

Expression of Veteran Firemen on Death of Major Gulick.

The following resolution has been engrossed by Viggo Jacobsen and properly framed will today be presented to Mrs. C. T. Gulick. It will bear the seal of the old Fire Department:

Mrs. C. T. Gulick, City.

Madam:—The undersigned, a committee duly appointed at a meeting of the Volunteer Fire Companies of the Old Honolulu Fire Department, held November 9th, 1897, would respectfully tender you their heartfelt sympathy on the occasion of the death of your beloved husband. By the demise of their old and tried comrade, CHARLES T. GULICK, all feel that they have lost a staunch and true friend, ever ready at the call of duty and always willing to help his comrades in trouble and adversity. May it be a consolation for you in your bereavement to know that his memory will ever be cherished by his old associates of the Fire Department, in which he has so long and faithfully labored.

We remain, dear Madam, most sincerely yours,

PIERRE JONES, HORACE G. CRABBE, W. W. WRIGHT, Committee.

Honolulu, H. I., November 12, 1897.

Lahaina Killer Landed Here—After the Other Japanese.

Holu Kuemann and his brother, Jim Kuemann, both convicted of larceny in the second degree by Judge Kahaulelio in Lahaina, on November 10th, and sentenced to two years in the Reform School, were sent down on the Helene yesterday morning.

Tookira, the man who butchered a countrywoman on Maui not long since, was another prisoner who came down on the Helene, and was sent over to Oahu Jail for safe keeping. He was charged with murder in the first degree and on November 12th, was committed by Judge Kahaulelio to the December term of the Second Circuit.

There was a rumor floating around town yesterday that Tookira had broken jail in Lahaina. The rumor seems to have arisen from the fact that one Hore, a Lahaina Japanese, assaulted Kanenutzu, a countryman, with attempt to kill and then ran away on the Helene to this place. The warrant came down on the Kilauea Hou and Hore will be arrested today.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mrs. Mary Gehring Carried Away by Heart Disease.

On Saturday, the 13th inst., at 11:50 a. m., Mrs. Mary Gehring died suddenly of heart disease, at her home on Punchbowl street, Honolulu. She had been a sufferer from this disease for the past four years. During several days prior to her death she had suffered intensely, yet no one thought that death was so near.

Mrs. Gehring was born in Westphalia, Germany, March 22, 1852. She was married at the age of seventeen to Wm. Gehring and together with him about fourteen years ago went to Missouri. After residing there about one year, they went to Minneapolis. From this place they went to Seattle in 1889, where on the 3rd of June of last year, Mr. Gehring died. He went away from home in the early morning and shortly afterwards he was brought back dead; caused by being thrown from his wagon. This awful shock aggravated Mrs. Gehring's malady. On the 18th of March, 1897, Mrs. Gehring came from Seattle to Honolulu accompanied by her younger son Willie, to join her older son Henry who was then and still is partner in the firm of Gehring & Balke, plumbers. Mrs. Gehring was a devout Christian, a devoted wife and mother. Her last thoughts were for her two sons. They were all in to her, and she watching their budding manhood full of promise with that pride that only a mother can know. While in Honolulu her infirmities have enforced seclusion and retirement, but in her former homes there will be many who will hear with deepest grief of her death.

The funeral took place at the undertaking parlors of H. H. Williams. Rev. Dr. Pearson conducting the service. The pall bearers were W. W. Hall, Peter High, J. Alfred Magoon, J. J. Byrne, J. Ouderkirk and F. P. Hemen. The two sons who are now orphans indeed will have the heartfelt sympathy of this community.

DEAD IN THE RIVER.

Body of Tong Sing, Hilo Merchant, Found.

(Special Correspondence).

HILO, Hawaii, November 12.—Tong Sing, Chinese merchant on Volcano street, was found dead in Wailuku river this morning by two natives. The man was last seen alive by his friends last Sunday night at 10 o'clock, when he left them for his home. He had with him $51 at the time.

When found this morning his shirt was drawn tight over his head and his money was missing. A coroner's jury is hearing evidence this afternoon. The supposition is that the man was murdered and thrown overboard.

TO PREVENT SUNSTROKE.

The Lutan Chamber of Commerce, says Invention, has received from the new Government Department of Commercial Intelligence several specimens of foreign-made hats for horses, sent to England by the British Consul at Bordeaux, who in his report states that they are now in general use there. In order to prove their utility he further adds that only a few years ago the tramway company at Bordeaux lost annually during the hot weather no less than 12 horses, on an average, through sunstroke, but since the introduction of the headgear in question they had not lost a single animal from that cause. The specimens mentioned are made of rush, in the shape of a wide-brimmed and high-crowned hat, with holes for the horse's ears, and bound with red braid and strings to tie "under the chin." The National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is stated to have already taken the matter up seriously, and orders to a considerable extent have, it is said, been placed with one of the largest manufacturers in Lutan for these "sunbonnets for horses." Attention has also been directed to a custom followed in America, where, during the hot summer months, a wet sponge is fastened under the headstall between the horse's ears. The sponge is re wet at intervals and seems to afford great relief to the horses.

"The Lowell of the South" is the proud title given by Augusta, Ga., people to their flourishing city, and it is hardly a misnomer. It is the second largest inland cotton market in the world, handling between 250,000 and 300,000 bales annually, and of this quantity its own mills may use 100,000 bales this year. Its fourteen mills resound with the hum and whir of nearly 250,000 spindles.

ON LIVE TOPICS

Evening With the Young Men's Research Club.

SEVERAL VERY GOOD PAPERS

Wide Range—Football and Cycling.
Eastern Question—Pacific Commerce—Municipalities.

Several live questions were discussed intelligently, studiously and at length by the young men of the Research Club at the home of Rev. D. P. and Mrs. Birnie last evening. The attendance was not quite so large as usual, but the interest seemed keener than at any previous meeting since the organization had started.

The evening opened with a short talk on the college football situation by John Waterhouse. He told of the old and new games and of the outlook for the principal eleven. Harvard and Yale are soon to meet again after patching up their quarrel. It is to be regretted that more of the first class teams will not come together this season, as the contests now arranged will by no means determine the American championship.

Mr. Frank Atherton was called upon for wheel comment and responded with comparisons and estimates of the chief professional riders. One thing he remarked that has escaped public notice. He told that Jones had not been in perfect form since arrival here, having taken on flesh despite hard training.

Judge de la Vergne handled very ably and clearly "The Eastern Question." He spoke of the "conscience of the concert," of the duplicity of the Turk, of the grave fault of England in failing to use her power in the interest of humanity and of the hopeless situation of the Armenians, who were destined to fall into the jaws of either the Turk or Russian. Quotations were given from Gladstone, Bryce and other leading thinkers and writers. Judge de la Vergne said it would take hours to introduce this question, days to enlarge upon it properly and no less than a year to prepare a comprehensive paper. Nevertheless in a quarter of an hour he sketched it pretty fully. He believed Greece made a mistake in endeavoring to assume bold instead of secret or occupant control of Crete and again in going to war. In the latter step Greece must have had the assurance of Russian backing or she would never have sent 80,000 indifferent troops against 450,000 well trained soldiers. Germany he believed rather sought the friendship of Turkey, for the reason that the present emperor saw a prize and ally in the powerful army of the Porte. Bismarck in his day had courted the Russian rather than the Turk. The American missionaries had done more for the oppressed Armenians than any other factor.

Attorney John T. Debolt has been assigned the topic of "The Commerce of the Pacific." In his opinion its development had scarcely begun. The prediction of Sumner as to the extent of the trade in these waters would be more than fulfilled and Hawaii being a strategic point would be greatly benefited. Countries of marvelous productive capacity border on the Pacific and the trade is bound to become of tremendous proportions.

Mr. Pond's paper was a "Review of Municipal Government" and was more than a cursory study of the subject. He advanced the thought that the cities as the great centers of population had outgrown the possibilities in the way of control of the old township system and demanded something more rigid. The mayor should be the one responsible man and civil service should be recognized. The Citizens' Union was a movement in the right direction, but was little more than a makeshift or expedient. Reforms were demanded in the interest of health, of morality and honesty. Partisanship, making possible gang or machine rule was a great obstacle and the forcing of state issues into city elections was a ruse of the boodling politician.

After a spirited piano solo by Mr. Lambert refreshments were served on the lanai.

Still President Wight.

It was published last evening that "W. C. Wilder had succeeded C. L. Wight as president of the Wilder Steamship Co." This is an awkward blunder. Mr. Wight is still at the head of the Steamship Company and if services count with the corporation will remain there indefinitely. Senator W. C. Wilder has again been chosen as president of Wilder & Co., the big and successful mercantile concern.

New Music.

Frank Nichols of Wall, Nichols, brought from the States a consignment of the new music "Liliuokalani's Prayer and Serenade." The folio also has "Aloha Oe." On the cover are likenesses of the ex-Queen and of Princess Kaiulani. To the latter is dedicated the "Prayer and Serenade." There has already been quite a demand for the new music.

Those who lately proposed another charity football game have not dropped the project and will soon make an announcement.

WEYLER HAS GONE.

Captain-General Blanco Takes Command.

HAVANA, October 31. The Spanish cruiser Alfonso XIII, with Marshal Blanco, the new Captain-General of Cuba on board, was sighted off Havana this morning at 5 30. At 7 o'clock the Alfonso XIII entered the harbor and Lieutenant-General Weyler, the Marquis Ahumada, Admiral Navarro and other high military and naval officers went on a special steamer to meet General Blanco.

After a long and cordial conference Lieutenant-General Weyler yielded up his command to his successor.

Lieutenant-General Weyler and Marshal Blanco exchanged farewells on board the Alfonso XIII, and the steamer Monsarrat sailed at 1 o'clock p. m. She was escorted outside the harbor by numerous tugs laden with friends of the departing general and the officers of his staff. Weyler's escort on the Monsarrat consists of 600 sick soldiers.

UNION PACIFIC AFFAIR.

Road Purchased by Eastern Capitalists.

OMAHA, (Neb.), November 1.—The interest of the United States Government in the Union Pacific Railroad terminated at 11:45 o'clock this morning when, at the foreclosure sale of the mortgage held by the United States, the road was purchased by the committee of Eastern capitalists formed for its reorganization.

The full amount accruing to the United States from the sale cannot be given exactly, but is estimated to be $58,065,748.40. It is impossible to determine the full amount at the time of sale, for the reason that the monthly statement made by the Secretary of the Treasury to the management of the Union Pacific on the 1st of every month was not available today.

FOREIGN NEWS NOTES.

NEW YORK, November 1.—The managers of the four leading candidates for Mayor, confidently claim the victory for their man. The correspondent of the London Times thinks the conditions are favorable for the election of Low.

LONDON, November 2.—The Times publishes a dispatch from Seoul, which says that the Russian Minister has forced the Korean Government to dismiss the English financial adviser and chief of customs and put a Russian in the place.

IS HERE FROM THE COAST

Mr. Chesney W. Ewing—A San Francisco Reputation—Some Work Done Here—With Williams.

Honolulu has a resident portrait artist. His name is Chesney W. Ewing and he is attached to the Williams photograph gallery. Mr. Ewing came here a few weeks ago from San Francisco, where he had a studio of his own. Up there he was the best known man in the profession and did work for the leading society people.

Down in Queen street a few days ago Mr. Williams was mentioning that he had secured from the Coast the best man ever brought here for portrait work. Norman E. Gedge replied that the chief of the artists in that line up there could not afford to come to the Islands. His name was Ewing and he had painted for Mr. Gedge's brother a portrait of a child that took first prize in the Mechanics' Pavilion art exhibition. "Would you know Mr. Ewing if you saw him?" inquired Williams. "No, I don't think I would," answered Mr. Gedge. "Well," continued Williams again, "come up to my gallery and I'll introduce you to him. He's here with me now." Mr. Gedge did not take back anything he had said about the quality of Mr. Ewing.

CHESNEY W. EWING.
(Portrait Artist).

The new artist is a young man, but has done a lot of work of note and has an established reputation. He is here for an indefinite stay. The work ahead of him just now will occupy several months of his time. He has made a few portraits and is working on others. In the exhibit at Williams' are seen among the number the following faces: Free-hand crayon of Justice Judd, crayon of the Supreme Court Justices—Chief Justice Judd, Justice Frear and Justice Whiting, water color portraits of Mrs. Jas. Boyd, Mrs. H. Renjes, Mrs. W. Porter Boyd, Miss Belle Vida, several children, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Williams.

All this work is certainly of a very high class and received the highest commendation of the critics and others who have seen it. Holiday orders have been pouring in. Features of the work are smoothness, delicate and true coloring, absolute fidelity in likeness, graceful posing and complete finish. Each bit is like a speaking photographic reproduction of the subject. The portraits on ivory and porcelain and the miniatures are particularly charming.

Mr. Ewing has naturally a busy and popular artist in a city like San Francisco had varied experiences in carrying out commissions. He does not tell many stories of himself, but gives this anecdote of a fellow artist: A wealthy young chap from one of the counties of Southern California called and gave an order for an oil painting of his father. He was asked when the head of the family could come for a sitting. The answer was that the father had died some weeks before. "Of course you have a photograph?" He was sorry none had been left or could be found. But he would pay $500 for a painting made according to directions. Well and good. "Father's eyes were the color of mine and his hair the same except there was not much of it in front and the rest of it was gray. He had a moustache heavier and shorter than mine and a full beard. That's enough, isn't it?" The artist said he would do the best he could and really did turn out an A1 ancestor. The customer looked at it awhile and then coolly remarked: "It's a fine picture and worth the money, but hully gee, how the old man has changed."

Mr. Williams will soon announce a public showing of the pictures lately made here by Mr. Ewing.

Sabbath Lawbreakers.

In the Police Court yesterday morning, twelve cases of drunkenness paid the usual amount into the treasury.

The cases of the five Chinamen arrested for violating Sunday law by working in their rice patches, were nolle prossed.

An old offender plead guilty to the charge of drunkenness and had his case nolle prossed.

The Sham Battle.

A writer in Muncie for November after speaking of field drill in indoor work, says: "Still, in Pennsylvania, Major General Snowden and his staff, who are earnest military students, developed a creditable scheme of battle formation. Sham battles are not approved for militia in limited training period; they amuse the spectators, but are regarded as demoralizing the men."
